
Erratum

Correction to “How Do Doctors in Different Countries Manage the Same Patient? Results of a Factorial Experiment.”

John McKinlay, Carol Link, Sara Arber, Lisa Marceau, Amy O'Donnell, and Ann Adams. Article published online on July 6, 2006, and printed in this issue, HSR Volume 41, Number 6, December 2006.

The paper entitled, “How do doctors in different countries manage the same patient? Results of a factorial experiment,” contained an omission in the author list.

The corrected author list should include Karen Lutfey, Ph.D. as the last author as she made significant contribution to the content of this paper. The corrected list is reprinted below in its entirety:

John McKinlay, Ph.D., New England Research Institutes, 9 Galen Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

Carol Link, Ph.D., New England Research Institutes, 9 Galen Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

Lisa Marceau, M.P.H., New England Research Institutes, 9 Galen Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

Amy O'Donnell, M.P.H., New England Research Institutes, 9 Galen Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

Sara Arber, Ph.D., University of Surrey, Guildford, U.K.

Ann Adams, Ph.D., University of Warwick, Coventry, U.K.

Karen Lutfey, Ph.D., New England Research Institutes, 9 Galen Street, Watertown, MA 02472.

REFERENCES

- McKinlay, J., C. Links, S. Arber, L. Marceau, A. O'Donnell, and A. Adams. 2006. “How Do Doctors in Different Countries Manage the Same Patient? Results of a Factorial Experiment.” Health Services Research 41 (6): 2182–2200.